and Technology Academic Lyceum*

Annotation. This article describes the honorable, highly responsible and complex and difficult profession in the training of competitive personnel with high moral and ethical qualities, as well as dedication, honesty, hard work, constant work on themselves, details of the intricate art of educators who need to keep pace with the times are highlighted.

Key words: pedagogue, perfect person, education, upbringing, knowledge, pedagogical skills, cultured, demanding, pedagogical ability, pedagogical activity, diligence, perseverance, ability, creative mood.

The role of pedagogues in training qualified, competitive personnel is invaluable. Society in providing highly qualified specialists, educating a perfect person, education the potential of professors and teachers in raising their quality, their pedagogical skills is the main factor in the educational process. Great scholar A. Avloni as noted, "A teacher is first of all educated, polite, dressed and walking - standing not only to his pupils and students, but to all humanity should be an example. Consequently, "On Education" of the Republic of Uzbekistan Article 5 of the Law states: "Has appropriate education, professional training and high morals." that persons with qualities have the right to engage in pedagogical activities shown.

Complete state education standards and science programs in educational institutions and high-quality performance depends on the teacher, his knowledge and skills, it depends on his responsibility, dedication, and also his conscience. Modern teacher to know his subject perfectly, to be able to use pedagogical technologies during the lesson, to be well versed in modern information technologies, morally pure and political outlook should be high. Here, the German pedagogue Adolf Disterweg "The most important figure in any education and upbringing is the teacher, his world of thought." it hurts.

Teaching is honorable, but at the same time very responsible, complex, and difficult profession is also the most complex art and requires dedication, honesty, hard work, self constant work on it, keeping pace with the times, student's trust and respect requires learning, pedagogical skills. A one-hour lesson for a large work equalized. Therefore, careful preparation for each training session, the rich history, traditions and great ancestors of our people in the field of education effective organization of educational activities using scientific heritage each is the main task of a professor-teacher.

Therefore, a teacher who does not have thorough, perfect knowledge and pedagogical skills cannot complete a full class. Today's youth are eager and eager for knowledge. Only to them honest knowledge should be given. Beating, being rude, with insulting words it is impossible to teach knowledge by touching the honor of students. Because learning is also creative is an activity. About various events that are not related to the subject of the lesson students' time should not be wasted by talking. The great educator Ralph Waldo Emereon "The secret of education is to respect the student," he says. The teacher is teaching

Pedagogical skill, very cultured, demanding and strict adherence to procedures must do.

Therefore, in order to become a master of his profession, a teacher should work on himself regularly, only when it develops and becomes perfect, benefiting from nature, art, life, and science achieves the goal. As noted by F. N. Gonobolin, master of human psychology —The teacher uses all his strength, will, knowledge, everything he has is good He gives his things to his students and the people. But he has everything he has if he doesn't replenish his knowledge, strength, and energy again and again, then nothing remains in itself.

On the one hand, the teacher gives his best, on the other hand like a cloud from the side, to be accustomed to receive from life, from science, whatever good things are, it is necessary to work in cooperation with the most advanced people of the people. That's when it happens no matter how much he gives to his students, if he is nourished by people, life, and science, he is the best.

If he can read the characteristics, then he always has such nourishing juices for his students will exist with excess.

Long-term observation of teachers' activities, development of results on a scientific basis output, scrutinizing the opinions of the heads of the educational institution about the teachers a scientist who researched in the system of pedagogical skills of learning, teacher's activity

N.V. Kuzmina writes: —Education is a lot of shortcomings that occur in upbringing not knowing well the practical direction of the teacher's pedagogical ability; talent is the teacher's absence.

With students, their parents and colleagues in the field of work of a teacher

The integrity of communication is the basis of pedagogical activity and pedagogical skills.

"A pedagogue," said John Amos Comenius, conscientious, hard-working, consistent and persistent to be an exemplary person of the qualities that he should instill in the students, wide should be an educated and hardworking person. He loves his subject very much, to treat students like fathers, and to knowledge in the heart of every learner it should arouse desire." As the Great Russian pedagogue A.S. Makarenko said: "Educator organizes." he should know how to reach, walk, joke and be happy or angry. He himself he should behave in such a way that his every action educates and educates.
