The entry of elementary school students into the first grade is the most important issue for both teachers and parents. At this time, children begin to form an ideology about school. A child may be afraid of school and may not want to study. Because they grew up only in a free and pampered environment. It is very difficult for them to adjust to a different environment, especially for their teacher. In such a situation, we will list what methods and solutions the teacher can find in the problems with various children.

Especially nowadays, children are very involved in social networks and games. Teaching children of this period is very difficult. Nowadays, it is easy to find television, computer and other necessary materials in classrooms. Because today's children are developing their minds with social networks. A teacher can engage children in the lesson by playing video clips and music games. Basically, the lesson depends on the teacher. The teacher's voice is an important tool in teaching. There are different ways to teach students, but the best way is to speak to them beautifully, especially elementary school students are very afraid of school. Such students can be enchanted by the teacher by speaking well to him.

Some students don't want to come to class, they can't sit quietly in class, they get up a lot, they don't understand the class at all. In these cases, great patience and perseverance are required from the teacher. These problems require special attention for each student. There are many games, especially for children. In primary classes, there are various games in mother tongue, reading, English. For example, "Tell me the last word"

Games like "Who knows this word", "Step and step" develop students' interest in the lesson.

Any teacher wants students to master the lesson well, especially explaining the lesson to elementary school students is very difficult. Such a responsible profession is unique to teachers.
